Used Books and Recordings Donation Program

If you are looking for a good home for your “used” Kappeler books and recordings, please consider donating your collection to the KI USA.

As a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization, we can provide you or your family with a tax-deductible receipt for the “fair value” of the used books or recordings. In turn, we sell these books as “used,” or provide them at a greatly reduced price to students who cannot afford to purchase materials at the full price.

Unmarked books in good condition are worth approximately 50% of their retail price, and marked-up books are worth 10–20% retail. The value of recordings varies greatly, depending on their age.

If you want to know the value of your Kappeler “collection” in advance, please provide KI USA with a list of materials you own and their condition, and we will give you an estimation of your donation receipt (the actual value is determined after KI USA receives and inventories the materials). In addition, if you ship the collection to us via USPS Media Mail, we will reimburse you for shipping costs.

Please make arrangements with KI USA in advance of mailing your collection. To find out more about donating your Kappeler used books and recordings to KI USA, please contact us.
